MEYER LOST WIFE AND GOODS.

He Charges that His Boarder Even Took His Clothes.

Now He Is Shorn Closer Than a Spring Sheep.

Abram Meyer, of 48 South Fifth street, was in the Lee Avenue Court, Williamsburg, today, to apply for a warrant for the arrest of William Gregory on a charge of wrongfully withholding furniture.

Gregory boarded with Meyer, but about a week ago Gregory complained that Meyer had deceived him with $60 belonging to him, which he had given her for safe-keeping. Two days ago Meyer visited the Lee Avenue Court, and announced that Gregory had moved all his (Meyer's) furniture out of the flat where he lived. Justice Goetting issued a summons for Gregory to answer the charge of wrongfully withholding furniture, and the deserted husband decided to serve the papers himself.

This morning when Meyer came to court, his face was somewhat bruised, and his feelings seemed to be hurt. "I want some kind of justice," he remarked. "Gregory is a beautiful fellow and he ought to be punished. He has taken away my wife and all my furniture, but if he won't give me my clothes, I would not have felt so bad."

This fellow Gregory is living next door to my house, and he went there last night to serve the summons on him. The people there knew me, although I do not know them, and they refused to let me in.

Your wife took this poor fellow's money, said the judge, and she has taken your furniture and that even matters up. What right have you to take it?

"I argued with them, but without effect. Then I tried to force my way into the house, and was thrown out. One of the fellows there told me that if I came again he would kill me."

Meyer laughed at Gregory's story that Mrs. Meyer stole $100 from him. He says that the wife and the poor fellow were most friendly terms, and that, so far as he knows, the two planned the job between them, and not the furniture as they could start up housekeeping without any trouble.

"I am glad to get rid of my wife," he concluded. "But I want my clothes. That fellow Gregory has everything I own except the suit I have on."

DESSERTERS TRIED.

Hughes and Barnett, of the Chicago, Court Married To-Day.

Peter Hughes and Frank Barnett, the two deserters from the United States cruiser Chicago, were court-marshaled at the Brooklyn Navy Yard this morning.

Both trials were finished, and the findings forwarded to Washington for the approval of Secretary Herbert. With men pleaded guilty to the charge of desertion.

Hughes and Barnett, after deserting from the Chicago at Southampton, came to New York on the Berlin several weeks ago. Hughes was a waiter and Barnett was ship's waiter on the Chicago.

When the Berlin came into quarantine the United States authorities were waiting for the deserters. Hughes attempted to escape by jumping from the hurricane deck of the Berlin and swimming ashore.

The proceedings of the trial are secret, but it is said that the papers recommend a year's confinement in the Brooklyn Navy-Yard prison for each prisoner.

GLEASON'S NEW PARTY.

He Will Run for Senator on the Anti-Monopoly Platform.

Mr. Major Gleason, before he left Long Island City for the Marine Corps, was making good progress in organizing his new party which is to be called the Anti-Monopoly.

He proposes to run for Senator this Fall on the Anti-Monopoly ticket and says that although he will have only a few supporters, he expects to be elected in the Senate District comprising Queens, Richmond and Kings.

This is "Politicians' day" at the Marine Park and Mr. Gleason expects to capture many new converts to the anti-monopoly party.

MYSTERY ABOUT THIS DEATH.

The Drowned Man Had a Letter Dealing to Another Man.

LONG ISLAND CITY, Sept. 23.—(Continued) Meiners thinks there is some mystery surrounding the case of the unknown man whose body was found in the river at this place some days ago.

The man had in his pocket a letter addressed to George Gifford, business man of Twenty-third street, New York. Mr. Gifford visited the Marine Park and the letter was not found.

The body was to have been buried today, but the coroner said Mr. Gifford's letter was to be put in it until he could be further investigated.

WANT JACOBS REMOVED.

One of a Committee to Appraise Property Condemned for a Road.

Attorney Lowell, representing property holders along the avenue, applied to Justice Barrett today for an order to remove the appointment of Stephen H. Jacobs as one of three Commissioners to appraise property to be condemned.

The property is wanted by the Brooklyn, Long Island and Manhattan Railroad Company, which had Mr. Jacobs appointed by Justice Barrett without his knowledge.

Justice Barrett decided he would not interfere in that another justice had done.

Stolen a Horse and Wagon.

Peter Marotta, a houseman, thirty-three years old, of 48 Greenpoint avenue, Brooklyn, B. D., was held in default of $1000 bail by Justice Goetting in the Kings Market Police Court this morning.

Gregory Henry Marotta, of 149 First Avenue, charged him with stealing a horse, wagon and groceries worth $100. Marotta left the horse and wagon in front of a house on East Twelfth street yesterday when Marotta was arrested and arrested by Police Officer G. of the Twelfth Precinct.

Bought a Wife at Permission.

Frank Fontaine, of 424 Flushing avenue, was held in the Lee Avenue Court, Williamsburg, today on a charge of threatening to kill his wife if she should leave him.

Fontaine's wife, who is named Mary, was brought to court by her husband. He was released on $100 bail.

Boody's Case Again Adjudged.

The argument on Mayor Boody's application to have the presentment of the June Grand Jury expunged from the records was again adjourned today until Monday at 10 A. M.

CHASED THE RIVER THIEVES.

Crew of the Police Boat Judge Moore Have a Lively Run.

Skiff Captured Laden with Bags of Wool.

The crew of the Brooklyn police boat Judge Moore, had a lively chase after three river thieves early this morning. The thieves were sitting in a skiff loaded with cotton and wool when they were discovered. They got ashore and managed to escape.

The police boat was cruising in the East River shortly before 2 o'clock. While passing under the bridge, Pilot Henry M. Sheppard saw the outlines of a skiff moving along near the shore at the foot of Bridge street.

Sheppard notified the crew of his discovery and the boat was turned toward shore. The men in the skiff saw they were discovered and pulled away the landing. They clambered up on the pier and ran away. The police boat ran alongside and a policeman and a constable jumped out and followed the thieves. The trial ran in and out behind boxes and barrels, and then separated and escaped.

The skiff which the thieves left behind was a fifteen-foot skiff, with three sets of oars. It was painted dark red, and I added two sets of oars, being the mark of a skiff.

The police took the boat and its contents to the police station. The thieves thought the gang had sneaked aboard some vessel and stolen the wool.

WAR TO RYAN'S OPPONENTS.

McKane Men Meet and Denounce Certain Politicians.

Boss McLaughlin Said to Be in a Ticklish Position.

There was a meeting of politicians at the office of John Y. McKane, on Court street, near the City Hall, Brooklyn, this morning, at which war was declared against all who opposed Dan Ryan's nomination for Sheriff.

There was nothing secret about the meeting, and there was strong language used against certain politicians who oppose Ryan.

The trouble all started yesterday afternoon when several Eastern District politicians called on Mr. McKane to ask that Senator Patrick H. McCarren receive the priority nomination in place of Ryan.

Immediately after calling on Mr. McKane, the Eastern District people started a McKane boom. This action brought severe criticism from the Ryan supporters, who were in the meeting.

The meeting was composed of South Brooklyn leaders, and presided over by John Y. McKane, the Gravesend leader. Ryan was not present.

He appeared before his supporters and said if he was ready to "fight to the death."

He assured them that he would stay in the fight until he was killed.

The situation is regarded by politicians as a very ticklish one.

Mr. Ryan is now employed as Superintendent of Public Buildings. His nomination has been introduced by twenty-four wards and four county towns.

CHARGES AGAINST A LAWYER.

Mrs. Dunn Says W. R. Wilson Has Defrauded Her of $25,000.

Frances H. Dunn has brought an action in the Superior Court to recover $25,000 damages from William H. Wilson, a lawyer who has an office in Elizabeth N. J., where she also lives. She asserts that he has defrauded her out of this amount of money.

TRAPPED A BOSTON MAN.

He Was Wanted for Embezzling from His Firm.

Changed Residence Stealthily, but Could Not Evade Pursuit.

William S. Gledhill, thirty-five years old, was arrested by the Brooklyn police early this morning, charged with embezzling $500 from a manufacturing firm in Boston. The Boston police say that he has already been indicted by the Grand Jury, and he will be held until the officer arrives with extradition papers.

The Brooklyn police received a letter from Boston a week ago, saying that Gledhill was supposed to be living at 317 Bridge street, Brooklyn. The Boston police requested his arrest.

The police learned that a man answering Gledhill's description lived with his wife and child at the address given. Capt. Campbell placed several officers in different places in the neighborhood to watch the house. Yesterday morning the warrant arrived. Capt. Campbell decided to wait until night to make the arrest. Shortly after he left Officer Walker, who was on guard, saw an express wagon drive up to the house. The door opened and a quantity of household goods were loaded into the wagon. Then a woman came out and a man followed her. The man was put up on the roof with the defendant, the vehicle dashed away. Walker followed the wagon and saw it turn into the street. He saw the man and the woman and the man was put up on the roof with the defendant, the vehicle dashed away.
